

THE OLD CREAMERY THEATRE'S 2015 WRITING CONTEST

CharacterRocks.com

REQUIREMENTS

The Old Creamery's brand new Theatre for Young Audiences show for 2015, CharacterRocks.com, will be packed full of amazing stories about characters that use the Six Pillars of Good Character to make the world a better place every day. But before we can create the show, we need to collect those amazing stories from students... that's where you come in!

The Old Creamery Theatre wants you to send us your creative, original story about a character or characters that learn a lesson involving one or more of the Six Pillar of Good Character (Trustworthiness, Respect, Responsibility, Fairness, Caring, and Citizenship). For more information about CHARACTER COUNTS! and a detailed description of each of the six pillars, please visit www.charactercountsiniowa.com.

All entries must:

- Be an original work from the imagination of a student or students in grades 1 - 6.
- Be in the form of a story, poem, song, or play.
- Be kept to a maximum of five typewritten pages.
- Have a lesson or moral that includes one or more of the Six Pillars.

Be creative! Try to think of new and interesting characters and conflicts to put in your story. Stories can be about people (real or imaginary), animals (realistic or fantastical), or even inanimate objects (that means things that would never really walk and talk, but they can come to life in your story). There's no limit to where your imagination can take you!

STORY WRITING TIPS

A good story:

- Has a beginning, middle and end.
- Is creative (and comes solely from the student's imagination).
- Has interesting characters.
- Tells the reader where the story takes place.
- Deals with a conflict (or problem) that is resolved by the end of the story.
- Teaches a lesson or has a moral.
- Explains how the characters have changed or been affected by events in the story.

Don't forget!

- Each entry must include the entrant's name(s) and grade, as well as the school's name, address, and phone number. Make sure that emailed submissions include this information too!
- Students are free to work on stories individually, in pairs, small groups, or as a class project.
- Teachers are encouraged to check entries to make sure the requirements are met and to provide basic feedback associated with any creative writing project.
- No entries will be returned and all works become property of The Old Creamery Theatre.

Please Note: Entries submitted to the 2015 Writing Contest may be freely adapted by The Old Creamery Theatre Company. While remaining faithful to the idea, purpose, and intent of the young writer, we reserve the right to use their work in any manner that is consistent with our mission of bringing a high-quality, live, professional theatrical experience to our young audiences. This includes editing for length, creating new dialogue, adding music, and making changes in the material if such changes enhance the dramatic or entertainment value of the piece. Also understand that not all prize-winning stories will be performed and some material used in the final production may receive a special recognition rather than a monetary award.

CharacterRocks.com will be touring from February 23rd to May 22nd, 2015. For more information or to schedule a performance please contact Jackie McCall at 319-622-6034 ext. 112 or jmccall@oldcreamery.com.
