

Ring of Fire

Dominick Tamayo finished off the mug for "Ring of Fire: The Music of Johnny Cash." "I liked the music," Tamayo said. The show will be playing through April 24th to May 25th.

Frankly Scarlet, You're Dead

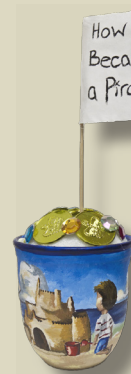

Alexis Miller designed her mug for "Frankly Scarlet, You're Dead." She thought the project was out of the normal but fun. "The class is extremely independent," Miller said. "Which is awesome, but having a set project to do was kind of nice for a change."

Cash on Delivery

Brenden Ziegenhorn found the project a fun way to spend class. He designed his mug for the play "Cash on Delivery" showing September fourth through 28th. "It was nice to help out in the production of the plays," Ziegenhorn said.

How I Became a Pirate

Emily Jonas found her inspiration from a picture in the book itself when doing her mug. "How I Became a Pirate" will be shown from June 14th-28th.

Tribute to Barbra Streisand

Maddy Whitting had to create her mug for the "Tribute to Barbra Streisand" a singer-songwriter and actress. "The idea of the mug was taken from one of her albums," Witting said. "I also wanted to draw attention to her famously large nose."

Branson on the Road

Ms. Duffey enjoyed helping the community when she also created a mug for "Branson on the Road." "It was fun working with a new media," Duffey said.